

EDUCATION PARTNERSHIPS, INC.

About Us

We are passionate...flexible...energized...diverse, and we fervently believe in win-win.

We are Education Partnerships, Inc.– an organization comprised of the nation's top educators and consultants whose expertise is building successful, long-lasting business/education partnerships in the communities where our clients have a major presence. Our ability to create and manage such partnerships is unique in the business/education arena and goes beyond the realm of professional development that most organizations offer.

We focus on developing solid partnerships with our business sponsors in their communities and schools to deliver proven results and positive change both in education systems and corporate responsibility that in turn have had a positive impact on our youth– our work force of the future.

We never enter a partnership, a school or a classroom with preformed solutions and recommendations in our portfolio. Experience has taught us that each partnership we work with contains its special challenges, goals and opportunities.

And as a part of this approach, we don't tell. We listen, and then advise and guide the partnership through our proven team methodology. In fact, Education Partnership's success has come through our highly personalized, grassroots approach to working with partners to help them create the right environment to promote change from within. We firmly believe that for change to be sustainable for our partners, it needs to come with ownership, trust and pride, and Education Partnerships excels at building this.

Our expertise is with high school principals and in the area of grades K-12, with specific competencies in middle-level education and leadership. Our business partners have included major transportation, forest products and banking companies, and the educational beneficiaries in these partnerships have ranged from school districts and superintendents to principals and teachers, as well as to thousands of students.

EPI's current Board of Directors is comprised of seven individuals who have a vested interest in the stewardship of the organization. These directors, who have been with us since our inception, are: Richard Ault, Barbara Hoffmann, James Hoffmann, Barbara Manning, James Miller, Fred Munk and Ulrik Poulsen.

We would welcome the opportunity to build a business/education partnership tailored for you, one that would actively support education, enhance community presence and social responsibility, and deliver positive results for our work force of the future.
